Bio

Laura Lein-Svencner grew up in Downers Grove and now resides in Darien, Illinois. She's married with four grown children and a home full of loving creatures. Although she has studied drawing, printmaking and sculpture, her love of paper keeps pulling her back to Fine Art of Collage.

She's been working in this medium for 24 years and has been teaching it for 22. She's member of many local and international collage groups and cofounder of the Midwest Collage Society, and signature member of the National Collage Society. She has won many awards with published work in a series North Light books, The Artists Magazine and Professional Artist. A current collection of her collage works self-published in her latest book, Tack Down Tuesday's, Abstract Mixed Media Collage Collection can be view on Blurb.com. Lein-Svencner is represented at Woodwalk Gallery, Egg Harbor and Jane Wilcoxson Gallery, Mineral Point, Wisconsin.
